FOREWORD

● Like an old violin, the book which records and illustrates the activities of our college days increases in value with the passing of time.

● If this, the 1935 DARDA, by causing you to live again, in memory, the year 1934-35 at Trevecca, succeeds in winning for itself a permanent place among your treasured possessions, it will have accomplished the desire of

In Appreciation

For Rev. H. H. Wise and his good people of First Church, who, at a time when we had no permanent home, permitted us the use of their commodious church building for school purposes, and who have thus contributed materially to the success of the present school term, we reserve this page of our annual as a token of our gratitude and appreciation

CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1933 fifty Freshmen entered the sacred walls of Trevecca Nazarene College to wage war against the forces of superstition, ignorance, and sin.

We do not mean to be conceited, but we soon realized that we were the best class in the school. We had a great variety of talent, and fifteen states and one foreign country were represented in our class. Richard Jones was elected President and Professor Foskey was elected Sponsor. With these two good leaders the class stood together as a unit and put over any good program that we desired. Our large number helped us in the Literary Society. We put on the "Mock Faculty" that year.

We chose for our motto, "The Elevator to Success Is Not Running, Take the Stairs," and tried to practice it. Some of us almost fell over the railing as we struggled up "English Composition Flight," but we took new hope when we caught sight of "Psychology Landing," and climbed upward.

June came and we had to bid farewell to our dear classmates, realizing that some would not be able to return the next year.

In the following September, the Senior Class organized with twenty-five members, electing Earl Seal as President, and Professor Mackey as Sponsor. We appreciate their efficient leadership this year.

In October we broke the timeworn custom of initiating the Freshmen and established a precedent by entertaining them with a picnic, at Shelly Park, which was enjoyed by all.

Some of our class were almost lost in the "Mystic Clouds" of Philosophy and Logic while others were almost overcome by the "Fog" of Chemistry, but as true Seniors we struggled on and came forth conquerors.

We have a loyal crowd of Freshmen this year. On April 18 they entertained us with a delightful banquet, which we shall never forget.

A little while and we, who have battled together, will be mustered out to our different pathways of duty. May we each "press forward toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

W. R. THOMPSON.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

In ages past, when star dust fell upon the hearts of men, and druids roamed our world about, such a tale as I shall tell would not have been unlikely; but come hither and hear ye a relic of the seer and knower of many things couched in modern phraseology. The unfolding thereof follows immediately.

I toiled for ten long years on the mission field in China. One night as I sat before my tiny fire thinking of other days and Trevecca College schoolmates, lightly a little maiden stepped from the tip of a flame and bade me follow her. "She took me to my native country and showed me what ten years had brought to our class of 1935.

"What, ho! The hall of Congress—the Speaker of the House is engaged in untangling some political squabble. Look! He has Robert's Rules of Order in his hand! Earl Seal! Who else but?

"Again, I am ushered into a magnificent banquet hall. Lights rival the sun in brilliance. A beautifully prepared table with cut crystal glasses tinkling in the hands of beautiful women and stately men. Della is entertaining some of her husband's friends.

"Among her guests I see another whose dark brown eyes and slightly graying hair seem strangely familiar. It is none other than Richard (Dick) Jones. But who would dare so to address him now? He stands at the head of the nation—Chief Justice of the Supreme Court!

"Our Chief Justice is unduly interested in the lady at his left. Moving a little closer, I gasp with surprise. A returned missionary talks with great tears standing in her soft blue eyes. I am tempted to spoil the vision by whispering, "Lois Murphy!" The crucial moment is passed—they laugh together.

"Our class is taking a big share in the honors of the day. Ethel Mae Beavers took the Pulitzer Prize for writing the best novel in 1941. Other literary lights—Lois Throver is an outstanding poet of the day; Ena Newton delights the children with her beautiful stories of the peoples of other lands where she made an extended study.

"Swiftly the scene is changed and a beautiful home in Alabama comes before me. Who is that sitting on the porch in the twilight? Why, it's Carl Brown! A little blonde girl of about four years is playing on the floor at his feet. Yes, your surmises are correct! Carl and Reta have been married several years.

"As I am carried down the road from the Brown home, I come across a field where scientific experiments are being carried on. Frank Blackburn and Albert Bostick have formed a partnership and are employed by the State Department of Agriculture.

"My heart almost frilled to function when I found myself again within the walls of Trevecca College. Lucien Smith is now Dr. Smith, the College President. Ardie Lindsay is his private secretary. Mine Griffin and Bertha Pettit are both teaching in the High School Department. It seems that Bertha is no longer Miss Pettit, but Mrs. Wallace. While I was in the College the Poole evangelistic party paid the school a visit. Need I say that Mrs. John D. is our former classmate, Ruth Lewis? Mrs. Poole gave a report in chapel. Russell and Mrs. Elliott are laboring faithfully and fruitfully on the mission fields of India. Who is Mrs. Elliott? Wilton Spruill, of course.

"La Nelle Gibson is still in Nashville; she is Miss Carroll's partner in their school of expression.

"Floy Wilhoite is helping her sister in the beauty parlor business, and sending a boy and girl to Trevecca Grammar School.

"I visited the World Memorial Building and heard Dolores Swinney, now a Metropolitan Opera singer. Paula Seal and Mavis McGee travel with Dolores during the summer season. The years have caused Dolores to live true to her name, and she needs these two merry finmakers to cheer her in her quiet hours. Mavis teaches during the winter of each year in the hills of Tennessee.

"W. R. Thompson is pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in St. Louis. Miss Slabough had decided, finally, that she would rather be a pastor's wife than a pastor. She makes a splendid better half for Rev. Thompson.

"From St. Louis the scene shifts to the Lone-Star State. How did I get there so quickly? Vision know no space or time. Here, W. B. Williams, M.D., is a practicing physician and has a host of friends. He employs Mildred Page and Martha Green as nurses in the Protestant Hospital in Dallas. Howard Stocks is also in Dallas training monkeys for the circus. Green is still his favorite color.

"They say "gentlemen prefer blondes," but it seems that women do not. Roy Gomer is running an ad in the paper. Wanting what? A wife!

"Curtis Elliott is vice president of the General Shoe Corporation.

"Grace Mims still wishes she could join the Marines. My heart goes out to her in sympathy.

"Again, I recognize the beloved state of Alabama. Set far back in a nook in the woods stands an old-fashioned log house. As my vision continues, the faint voice of a singing woman is wafted to my ears. The owner of that voice steps before me. It is Ada Lee Blackburn. Her dream of a log house came true.

"Last of all our class, three Kentuckians, Josephine Johnson, Mildred Gibson, and Eugene Mackey: Jo and Mildred are contented old-maid school teachers; Eugene didn't read Sherlock Holmes for nothing, he is noted far and near as detective No. 1 in the U. S. A.

"When the vision faded as suddenly as it came, the embers had died, and only the ashes of my fire remained. What of my prophecy? Well, we shall see what we shall see.

MARY R. JOHNSON.

OUR GOAL

(Theme suggested by MISS LOIS THROWER)

Years ago we started for the top,
It seemed that we would never reach the top;
 But trials sore are builders of the soul.
Weary days we knew before us lay,
And sleepless nights of toil before us lay,
 Yet we determined we would reach our goal.

Long have been the days that we have climbed,
And rugged, too, the path o'er which we climbed,
 To reach the summit of achievement high.
Thorns that grew beside our winding path,
And flinty rocks that lay along our path,
 Did pierce our hands and feet as we passed by.

Now we stand upon the peak we sought,
The lofty peak so long that we had sought,
 And look away across the valley broad.
Proud we are that we have gained this height—
We feel that there is yet a greater height—
 And pledge our lives in service to our God.

Parents, dear, have helped us on our way,
We needed them to help us on our way,
 And we are glad for all that they have done.
It is true, we've striven hard to win,
Without our parents we could hardly win,
 And so we honor them that we have won.

May we never feel that we have won—
For only those are dead who all have won—
 But may our lives for others then be given.
Serving others let us give our best,
And God Himself will smile upon our best,
 And for reward—our goal—will give us heaven.

SENIOR CLASS SONG

The Road That Leads Home

The time has come for us at last
To say farewell to friends we've met
And learned to love so very well,
We Seniors hope we have for you example set --
One that will be the best for all Trevecca High.
We see the great wide road ahead
That leads us home
To future life that holds its all,
Yes all for us,
The Senior Class will take
The way that leads to home,
And do our best to set
The way for our fellow men,
God is our keeper and guide,
Forever more,
We Seniors dwell upon Him,
And build our hope for
Things that never pass away --
Things God has planned
For us to have forever.
The parting time is near at hand --
It can't be long, but on this road,
We'll meet again, to our great home.

— EDWARD GLOVER.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF '35

WE, the Senior Class of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-Five, realizing our early departure from this smoky clime into the great unknown, being of sound and deposing mind, memory, and understanding, and knowing that our priceless social privileges and other treasures will be of no further value to us, do make known and declare this our last will and testament, hereby revoking all other whims, notions, preferences, and purposes heretofore expressed by us. To-wit:

1. To our dear old Trevecca High School we leave the unbounded love of every member of our class and also the hope of her prosperity and success.

2. To our beloved principal and sponsor, Professor Redford, we bequeath the coming senior class for him to sponsor and also all the democratic and communistic ideas that can be found in our class, together with one wooden leg to be bought with the rebate money received from him for re-tests.

3. To the faculty, whom we greatly appreciate, we bequeath the right to fashion a senior class that will meet their ideals.

4. We wish to grant and bequeath, individually, the following talents, traits, and privileges:

(1) To Hayden Hicks we leave Reba Hollins' ability to study hard and long.

(2) To Mr. Calvin we leave Ed Glover's ability to sing and play the trumpet.

(3) To Emogene Rood we give Miss Foster's dignified air.

(4) Louise Ayers gives to J. D. Poole her social privileges.

(5) To Martha Duggan, Lucile Weaver leaves Howard Stocks.

(6) The art of not talking, except when spoken to, Sara Duggan gives to Comer Johnson.

(7) To Bill Bevan we leave Gains Breese's ability to preach.

(8) To Mrs. Lawson, Miriam Mims gives her place as salutatorian.

(9) George Smith bequeaths his skill as a mechanic to Breland Spruill.

(10) To Leon Cook we give Earl Wallace's ability to sleep in class, sitting up.

(11) Louise Ballard leaves to Jean Hardy her ability to get Latin.

(12) Aylene Christian leaves her affection for Illinoisans to Mary Fleck.

In witness whereof, the class of '35, the testators, have to this, our last will and testament, set our hand and seal, this Twenty-Ninth Day of May, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred Thirty-Five.

(SEAL) JOHN COMPTON, Attorney, Senior Class of '35.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS' ASSOCIATION

RUSSELL ELLIOTT	President
HOWARD HILL	Vice President
GERTRUDE PADGETT	Secretary
EARL WALLACE	Treasurer

The Christian Workers' Association is the largest, most active, and most important organization in the school.

The organization is composed of all those who are actively engaged in Christian work.

Aside from participating in regular church and mission services in and around the city of Nashville, the members of this organization conduct services in the County and City Workhouses, County Jail, City Hospital, and various other places. Approximately forty thousand people were reached with the gospel during the year, of which number five hundred accepted Christ.

GERTRUDE PADGETT.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES

PARTHENIAN

(Composed of Students of College Standing)

OCTAVIAN

(Composed of Students of High School Standing)

The Literary Societies gave their programs alternately on Friday evenings in the chapel auditorium. Their programs have been interesting, entertaining, and instructive; and these organizations offer splendid opportunities for talent development.

The time from the close of the program to nine-thirty was granted the students for what is known at Trevecca as "social privileges"—each couple retiring to some section of the auditorium where they found a secluded (?) spot and discussed the weather (?) at will. Those who did not "date" usually assembled in the library where they played games, sang, or visited—"and a good time was had by all."

CAN YOU IMAGINE—

Professor Mackey as fat as Dr. Hardy?
 Gomer getting to a date on time?
 Jefferson with a girl friend?
 Eugene Mackey getting to class on time?
 Lois Murphy running out of something to say?
 Howard Stocks with the blues?
 Bobby McKeown without a smile on his face?
 Lawson saying "I don't know"?
 Nobody wanting a date with Dick Jones?
 Miss Person treating her students like grownups?

Mr. Shelton anywhere without Wayne?
 Ed Hardy in a bad humor?
 Ham and eggs for breakfast?
 "Lightning" in a hurry?
 Glover or Irwin refusing to sing?
 Social privileges every afternoon?
 Penny Huff not planning to go somewhere?
 Sara Duggan leading a school yell?
 Professor Parsons with an I. C.?
 Professor Redford without a crutch?
 Morgan staying awake in class?
 Any of us with nothing to do?

JOKES

MRS. REDFORD (answering phone): "You say Sue Collier has a bad cold and can't come to school today? Who is this speaking?"
 VOICE: "This is my mother."
 MRS. HARDY: "Is Pa's new dog a setter or a pointer?"
 ED: "He's neither. He's an upsetter and a disappointment."
 Maybe the reason so many rules are passed is to allow for breakage.
 MR. REDFORD: "What do I mean when I say, 'Be concrete'?"
 BILL BEVANS: "Act hard."
 MARY JOHNSON: "I see Mr. Garrett has his hair cut short."
 MRS. GARRETT: "Yes, the coward!"
 MISS THOMPSON (pointing to map): "This is where the barbarians' forefathers came from."
 DELLMAE: "Did they have four fathers?"
 MISS THOMPSON: "Paul was a great prophet in his day."
 GEORGE SMITH: "I don't guess he'd be worth much now, profits have changed so."
 GOMER: "How do you like my hat?"
 SEAL: "Where'd you get it?"
 GOMER: "A fellow gave it to me."
 SEAL (after examining hat): "I don't blame him."
 MRS. HARDY (at ten o'clock): "Who didn't hang up their clothes when they went to bed?"
 EULA (from under the blankets): "Adam."

EULA: "I was valedictorian of my class when I graduated from the eighth grade."
 MRS. HARDY: "Were you the only one in the class?"
 SEAL: "Dell, do you know what Swinney's favorite expression is?"
 DELLA: "Great day in the morning?"
 SEAL: "No, 'Date Gray in the morning.'"
 DOLORES: "We've been waiting a long time for that mother of mine to come."
 VICTOR: "Hours, I should say."
 DOLORES: "Oh, this is so sudden."
 MISS PERSON: "It's no disgrace to be an old maid."
 HOWARD STOCKS: "Are you an old maid?"
 MISS PERSON: "Yes, by choice."
 STOCKS: "Whose choice?"
 MISS PERSON: "Eugene, you're late to class again."
 EUGENE MACKAY: "No'm, you just started the class before I got here."
 LAWSON: "My wife has been nursing a grouch this week."
 DICK JONES: "Been laid up, have you?"
 TEACHER: "How long can a person live without brains?"
 STUDENT: "How old are you?"
 MRS. GARRETT: "Emogene, you've broken more dishes than your salary will pay for. I don't know what we are going to do about it."
 EMOGENE: "I don't either, unless you raise my salary."

IN RETROSPECTION

AFTER a lapse of three years the DARD A again makes its appearance. Our annual, like so very many others, suffered much at the hands of "Old Man Depression." An attempt was made in 1932 to publish the book. The staff was elected and some plans were made, but the task seemed too great and the "Old Man" said it couldn't be done. Again, publication was attempted in 1933, and again the depression had its way. No attempt was made in 1934 to publish a DARD A for that year, but interest and enthusiasm were created near the close of the school for an annual for 1935. That interest has been kept alive and as a result the 1935 DARD A is a reality.

The staff of this year would be glad to list for you the graduates from all departments for the years '32, '33, and '34, but complete information is not available. However, the following are the graduating classes of 1934: High School, WILL H. ATKINS, Tennessee; Salutatorian: BLANTON COOK, Alabama; PAUL GROSE, Kentucky; LADELL MORGAN, Alabama; FRANK MURPHY, Florida; GERTRUDE PADGETT, Alabama, Valedictorian; and MAX R. SLOAN, Tennessee. College, CATHERINE ANDERSON, Guatemala, C. A.; RICHARD BINGHAM, North Carolina; ELEANOR BUTLER, Tennessee; LOIS HARDY, Tennessee; EARNESTINE and OPALINE HAYS, Kentucky; HELEN HENDRICKSON, Tennessee, Salutatorian; NAOMI HODGE, Illinois; HOWARD W. JARRETT, West Virginia; MRS. M. A. MACKEY, Kentucky; GLADYS SPRULL, Alabama; JEANETTE TAYLOR, Alabama; NEWBY TAYLOR, Tennessee; and C. R. THRASHER, Kentucky, Valedictorian.

While the DARD A was writhing under the influence of the depression, Trevecca herself did not escape. The past three years have been perilous ones, involving the school in abuses, misunderstandings, and criticisms. But Dr. Hardy, with his patient and efficient leadership, has kept her out of debt and brought her safely through.

In the summer of 1932 the school moved to the Roger Williams University site on Whites Creek Pike. This was to be the new home of Trevecca, but circumstances decreed that it should not be so. Therefore, in the summer of 1934 it was necessary to move again. Since the time for school to open was rapidly drawing near and no location had been secured, arrangements were made to move to Fifth and Woodland Streets, using First Church for classes and assembly, and residences in the vicinity for dormitories. This has proven very satisfactory as an emergency measure.

The Board of Trustees met in February and reorganized the school, naming her "Trevecca Nazarene College." The name, which was suggested by Rev. W. H. Parker, of Charlotte, N. C., preserves the traditions and standing of Trevecca, and at the same time identifies the college with the Church of the Nazarene. The Board also ordered the selection and purchase of a suitable location. We are expecting great things in the future for good old Trevecca Nazarene College.
